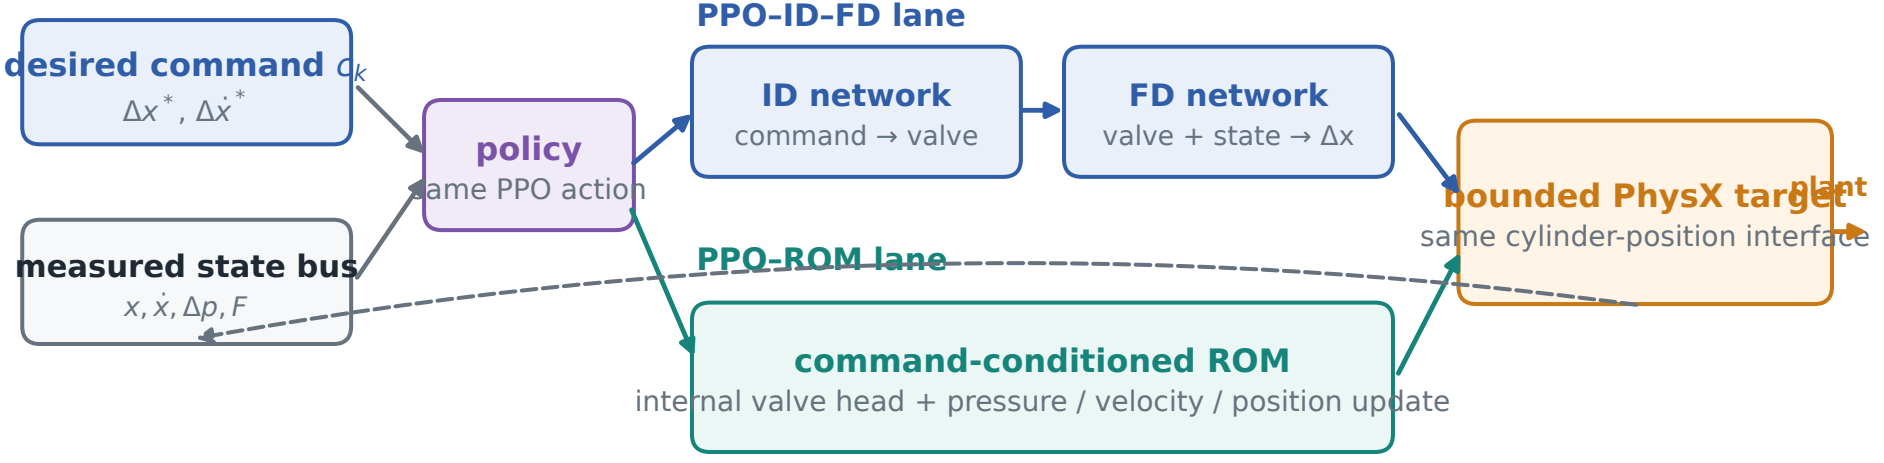
Two learned actuator representations, one deployment contract

The experimental variable is the actuator representation; the policy, state bus, and PhysX target are shared.



feedback bus closes the loop; only the actuator representation changes between the two lanes